JOB DESCRIPTION
Lecturer in Interactive Systems, School of Computing & Communications
Vacancy Ref: A1492

Job Title: Lecturer in Interactive Systems	Present Grade: Grade 7/8

Department/College: School of Computing & Communications

Directly responsible to: Head of School

Supervisory responsibility for: Research Fellows/Associates; PGR, PGT & UG Students

Other contacts

Internal: All colleagues and students within the School of Computing & Communications, Dean of Faculty; Faculty Associate Deans; Academic colleagues within the University; University administration

External: Commercial and industrial research collaborators and sponsors; research councils, European Commission, Professional bodies; Potential students and their parents.

Major Duties:
To participate in the University's research and teaching activities in Computing and Communications, as follows:

1. To pursue international quality research within the field of computer science in order to enhance and widen the impact of the world-class research profile of the School:
    *   Developing original research and/or scholarship, individual or collaborative, leading to the dissemination of results through internationally-leading scientific journals and conferences in the in the subject area, and the development of pathways to impact.
    *   Development of new research collaborations and grant initiatives, leading to funding for new research contracts and grants, in collaboration with or via mentoring others.
    *   Contributing to the multi-disciplinary research activities within the School.
    *   Maximising impact from research through business partnerships and public engagement activities.
    *   Supervision of research staff and students (including partner staff).

2. To contribute to the teaching commitments of the School by carrying out:
    *   Teaching, examining and administrative duties on undergraduate and masters programmes, as requested by the Head of School.
    *   Contributing to the curriculum development and the design of individual courses offered by the School and it's international partner institutions.
    *   Supervision of project dissertations undertaken by students (PhD, MSc, UG).
        Undertaking personal development in teaching skills and practice.

3. Other:
    *   To participate fully in School Committees/Management Groups, and running of the School.
    *   To take responsibility for various administrative duties as requested by the Head of School.