JOB DESCRIPTION

Vacancy Ref: A2687

Job Title:	Research Associate (NG-CDI)		Present Grade: 6
Department/College:	School of Computing and Communications
Directly responsible to:	Professor Nicholas Race, Professor David Hutchison
Supervisory responsibility for: None
Other contacts
Internal: NG-CDI Project Manager; Other Senior Research Associates/ Research Associates in the project; Staff and Students at the University; colleagues in the School of Computing and Communications
External: Members of the broader research team at Surrey, Bristol, Cambridge and BT. Other industrial partners and the wider research community

Major Duties:

1. Supporting and undertaking research necessary to achieve Lancaster University's aims within the Next Generation Converged Digital Infrastructure (NG-CDI) project. More specifically, contributing to NG-CDI Research Challenges 1 & 2, which aim to propose, implement and evaluate a systems architecture to build reliable digital infrastructures amenable to automated operations using the nascent technologies of future networks, including NFV and SDN.

2. To collaborate with industrial and research project partners to achieve the above goal.

3. Contributing to the planning, development, and publication of our work within the project.

4. Preparing and presenting of talks, posters and reports to disseminate the results of the research.

5. Participating in national and international conferences and workshops to present the results of the project to a wider audience and to learn about current advances in the field.

6. Contributing to the preparation of (potentially collaborative) journal papers for publication of project findings.

7. Participating in all project meetings, including the development of progress reports describing and reflecting on the results of the project.

8. Participating in writing new research proposals that build on the expertise developed in this project.

9. Any other duties appropriate to the grade and position as directed by Professor Nicholas Race.