Other contacts:
- Internal: Other members of the project team, colleagues and students in the Department and in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, together with colleagues in other faculties, providers of student support services, the Library, ISS, central administration and other relevant university actors.
- External: ESRC, professional bodies, employers, business organisations, local and UK government organisations, academic and research networks.

Major Duties:
- Undertake research to meet the specified aims of the ESRC-funded project ‘Questioning Vaccination Discourse: A Corpus-based Study and of the ESRC Centre for Corpus Approaches to Social Sciences.
- Complete the construction and preparation of a range of corpora.
- Contribute towards the development of appropriate methods and tools for the analysis of corpus data.
- Conduct manual and automatic analyses of the data.
- Participate in regular project meetings and in relevant research networks more broadly.
- Write and/or contribute to academic articles (of suitable quality to be returned in the Research Excellence Framework) and contribute to other publications arising out of the project.
- Contribute to engagement activities with different stakeholder groups, including presentations, blogs and vlogs.
- Participate in and/or take the lead on (as appropriate) the writing of new follow-on research proposals that build on the results of the project.
- Make any further contributions to the project and the research Centre as required by the Principal Investigator, commensurate with the grade (e.g. maintenance of project website, organization of Lancaster Summer Schools in Corpus Linguistics).

- Work within the strategic direction of the University as a whole and the University’s code of ethics and practice guidelines.
